

Dr Somnuk Phonesouk

Occupational Health Practitioner Injury Management Consultant Medical Review Officer, AMROA

MBBS, FRACGP, BSc(Med) Master of Public Health, AVMED (RAFF) DAME Australia

Dr Phonesouk is the Principal Medical Officer; General Practitioner Sydney Airport Medical Centre (Sydney Airport Mascot NSW) 2010 – present and has worked previously also in various rural General Practice and Defence roles in General Practice and Injury Management and Injury Rehabilitation. He understands that Injury Management is a multi-faceted and complex process that requires not only an understanding of the processes and the science of medicine but also requires effective communication with all stakeholders. He enjoys the challenge of structured problem solving, incorporating art of negotiation mixed with empathy and compassion for all concerned parties.

Accreditations

- AMROA (Australasian Medical Review Officers Association)
- AMA (Australian Medical Association)
- Australian Government CASA (DAME)
- Australasian Society of Aerospace Medicine
- SIRA (Injury Management Consultant)

Education

| | |
|--|-----------|
| Bachelor of Medicine, Bachelor of Surgery, Bachelor of Science (Med) MMBS BSc (Med) University of NSW | 1991-1996 |
| Masters of Public Health (MPH) University of Sydney | |
| Royal Australian Air Force Edinburgh 2006 (Adelaide) Certificate of Aviation Medicine (DAME) | 2006 |
| Fellow Royal Australian College of General Practitioners (FRACGP) | |

